WELCOME TO THE LATEST FROM OUR COMMUNITY

November has arrived, and there's plenty happening across our community as we head toward a busy and exciting end to the year. In this issue, we share updates on the Op Shop's recent revamp, local community news, stunning captures from the Camera Club, and details about the upcoming markets.

We're also delighted to feature Cait Wait's art exhibition, which recently opened at the Nautilus Theatre in Port Lincoln (see page 3), along with important fire prevention reminders as the fire season gets underway in South Australia.

COMMUNITY VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT Kym Gillett

What do you enjoy most about volunteering?

As a volunteer member for 39 years of the local Ambulance Team I still enjoy helping people and their families in their time of need. I'm a volunteer Elliston hospital representative on the Mid West Health and Aged Care Committee and have been along with Mary Reynolds and more recently, Trudy Venning. Our recent achievement is the addition of two new rooms to the Elliston Aged Care Facility. This is a wonderful addition for the Hospital.

What do you enjoy doing in your spare time?

What spare time? I do enjoy tinkering in my workshop on the farm, fishing, entertaining my 9 Grandsons or vice versa and a good game of Canasta.

What's something you're really proud of?

In May 1999 I was involved in a Rescue of a fisherman stranded out to sea on a rock, South of Lock's Well. The rescue was successful with the help of Bruce Agars. Between the two of us we were able to get the fisherman to shore at the bottom of a cliff with two broken ankles. The rescue helicopter came along 12 hours later.

As a result of that day I was awarded an A.S.M. (Ambulance Service Medal) for bravery on the Queen's Birthday Honors List. This was the first Ambulance Service Medal awarded in SA. Also proud to have been awarded the District Council of Elliston Citizen of the year in 2017, for service to the Elliston Community.

Do you have any favourite quotes or sayings that resonate with you?

"Nothing better than the smell of freshly turned earth and a new hay cut". I also like the smell of rain after a dry spell.

Where is your favourite place to visit in our region?

During Summer when it's hot and the waters and sheep are all checked, I love sitting in a boat out at Waldegrave Island watching the seals.

WEDGE TAILED EAGLE

An iconic bird giving a soaring and gliding exhibition.

It is highly recommended that readers consult further reading: Landscape.sa.gov.au Wedge-tailed eagles in agricultural areas Fact sheet 2024.

The SACWA Elliston branch presents the next of our bird articles for your interest Australia has 24 species of raptors, or diurnal birds of prey, including kites, goshawks, eagles, harriers, falcons and the osprey. All species hunt live prey during daylight hours. They are all characterised with a decurved and pointed bill, a fleshy skin in which the nostrils are embedded, and powerful gripping feet.

Wedge-tailed eagles (WTE) are an iconic Australian bird that are fascinating to watch. Its behaviours reflect its status as a top predator in its ecosystem, showcasing its adaptability and resilience in the face of environmental challenges. This statement can be challenged.

What do you actually know about this species?

Check this out: true or false?

- The largest bird of prey
- Wingspan of 2.3m, with a wedge shaped tail, and legs that are feathered to the base of the toes. Talons are large and powerful.
- Females weigh between 4.2- 5.3kg and are heavier than males 3.2- 4.0kg. Adults are mostly blackish- brown.

- keen eyesight, they can spot prey from over a kilometre away; it has bony rings on each eye that can squeeze the eyeball to enlarge what it sees just like a camera lens making it easier to spot prey from far distances.
- They are also known to occasionally attack aircraft, model airplanes, hang gliders, and helicopters.
- Life span of 30- 45 years in the wild
- They can lift 50% of their body weight
- During hunting dives, they can reach speeds of 195- 213km/hr (in a stoop dive)

The birds are monogamous and mate for life: if one bird of the pair is killed, the survivor will find a new mate. Established breeding pairs are territorial, and live in the one area throughout the year, defending around the nest sites from other eagles.

Courtship displays are most spectacular: one well known display is when a pair of birds, with claws interlocked, tumble through the air. Other displays can take place any time, when eagles, for the sheer enjoyment of life, apparently tumble through the air and ride the thermal currents over peaks. When seen fighting in the air, it is usually a mutual display of a pair or family group.

Keep an eye out for Part Two of the Wedge-tail Eagle article in next month's edition of The Echo.

CAIT WAIT "VIEWPOINTS"

Cait Wait, an artist who now calls Elliston home, has put together an exhibition of her and thirteen of her friend's work called "Viewpoints" at the Nautilus Arts Centre in Port Lincoln. The opening of the exhibition was held on Sunday 26 October. It was an intimate gathering of approximately 40 people including artists, friends of Cait's and locals from Elliston. Cait's paintings include a series of still life works, as well as her landscape scenes. Her most current scenes capture the beauty of the coastline around Elliston and one can feel the power of the environment in them. One of which is a "love letter to Elliston" which is a painting of 16 small scenes in and around Elliston (in the accompanying picture). The works from her thirteen artist friends include sculptures, printings as well as paintings. Elliston locals, Siv Grava, Dave Beaty and Zephyr Jones have works in the exhibition. These are all displayed in the second gallery. We are fortunate to have such talented people in our community. The exhibition is on until 16 November 2025 and is worth a view.

Farm Fire Unit Registration

Becoming a registered Farm Fire Unit is beneficial to the owner/operator and the CFS. The CFS can provide coverage for injuries and vehicle damage, as well as information to assist you to work with your local CFS brigades before, during, and after fires. When FFU operators register with the CFS, it is much easier for all operators in the area to be identified.

An online registration system is available at using the QR Code or cfs.sa.gov.au/farms

ECVIC UPDATES

OP SHOP REVAMP

Over the past few weeks, a dedicated group of volunteers have been busy giving the Elliston Op Shop a full revamp – and what a difference it's made! The team have worked tirelessly sorting, cleaning, and completely redesigning the layout to make the space more functional, welcoming and easier to navigate.

Visitors will notice a fresh new look and some thoughtful improvements, including a special items cupboard showcasing unique finds, clearly marked donation bins, and better organisation throughout the store. These updates not only make shopping more enjoyable but also help the team manage donations more efficiently.

A heartfelt thank you goes out to the team of volunteers for their incredible effort and commitment. Their hard work and community spirit have truly breathed new life into our much-loved Op Shop!
